PROSPECTIVE ALOHA PET RESORT AND SPA EMPLOYEE STATEMENT

First and foremost, thank you for your interest in wanting to be a pack mate with Aloha Pet Resort and Spa. Please read the following statement carefully so that we may give you insight of what working at our facility entails and demands that are presented by our pet owners and the pet industry. We have found that many applicants do not have a realistic view of what working at a pet daycare and boarding facility is like. The information below is a brief overview to ensure you understand the basics of the job duties we require of our employees at Aloha Pet Resort and Spa.

We are seeking people who genuinely love animals, are mature and are ready to take on the responsibilities of the tasks and challenges placed in front of them. Although our main focus is on the interaction and play with our client's pets, we also feed them, administer medications, see to their comfort and security and clean up after them. There will be a share of mundane and unpleasant chores that need to be performed by all team members. Pet waste will need to be picked up, floors mopped and trash emptied for just a few examples. Applicants will be required be able to lift at least 50 pounds in order to accomplish many tasks around the facility. All these duties require pack leaders with maturity, dedication and hard work.

One of our goals to our pack mates is to teach skills and add experience to their time spent with us as well as trying to make the best use of previous skills and talents. We are seeking team members whom are flexible, dependable and understand that our busiest days fall on holidays, weekends, spring break and summers. In addition, this business is seasonal in nature and hours and days will vary. Pets must be cared for 7 days a week so, in turn, holiday and weekend availability is required. With all of this said, dependability is a must.

Please note, this is an ill-suited position for any person who is allergic to animal hair/fur or sensitive to chemicals.

Thank you again for your interest in joining our "pack"!
